INSTITUTE PROFILE

The All India Institute of Speech and Hearing (AIISH), Mysore, is the foremost organization in the country, mandated to help and support people with communication disorders. Founded in 1965 as an autonomous institute under the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, Government of India, AIISH has been successfully carrying out its activities for the last 46 years. In pursuit of its mission of ensuring effective communication by one and all, the institute (a) generates and prepares knowledgeable and skilled practitioners in Speech - Language Pathology and Audiology and allied fields, who can provide state-of-the art, client-centered service in multiple settings,(b) conducts both basic and applied research in areas related to communication disorders and disseminates the findings among the local, national and international audiences, (c) provides affordable, accessible and high-quality speech, language, and hearing clinical services to the needy ones, and (d) develops, implements and evaluates education and outreach programs to address the prevention, intervention and control of communication disorders.

Started as an institute to train the postgraduate students in Speech and Hearing, today AIISH has grown into the largest institute in the country offering various diploma, graduate, postgraduate, postgraduate diploma, doctoral and post doctoral programs in the field, in addition to rendering clinical services to thousands of persons with communication disorders from all over the country and conducting multi-faceted research to find solutions to the challenges of communication disorders. All these activities are spearheaded by the experts working in 11 departments of the Institute, namely Audiology, Centre for Rehabilitation and Education through Distance Mode, Clinical Psychology, Clinical Services, Electronics, Otorhinolaryngology, Prevention of Communication Disorders, Special Education, Speech-Language Pathology, Speech-Language Sciences, and Material Development.

The institute has been recognized as a Centre of Excellence in the area of deafness by World Health Organization, as a Centre of Advanced Research by University Grants Commission, as a Science & Technology Institute by Department of Science and Technology, Government of India and as the nodal centre for implementation of prevention and control of deafness by Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, Government of India.

MAJOR ACTIVITIES

The major activities of the institute are outlined below.

A. MANPOWER DEVELOPMENT

AIISH is the very first institute in the country to have offered specialization in Masters, Doctoral and Post doctoral programs in the field of Speech-Language Pathology, and Audiology. The personnel involved in the mission of generating manpower in the field of speech and hearing include highly qualified faculty in the core departments of Audiology, Speech-Language Pathology, Speech-Language Sciences, Centre for Rehabilitation and Education through Distance Mode (CREDM), Prevention of Communication Disorders (POCD) and Clinical Services. It also includes the able faculty from the departments of allied areas such as Departments of Clinical Psychology, Electronics, Otorhinolaryngology, Material Development, and Special Education. The Academic Section coordinates various academic activities of the institute.

B. RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

The Institute is the leading organization in the country in conducting both basic and applied research related to speech, language and hearing and related fields of knowledge. Research activities of the institute come under two broad categories: (a) Faculty Research and (b) Student Research. Extramurally funded research projects are sponsored by national and international agencies like Department of Science & Technology, Government of India and World Health Organization. Intramurally funded research projects are sponsored by the institute through the AIISH Research Fund (ARF). Student researches are being carried out at the institute under the supervision of experienced faculty members. These include (a) Doctoral and Post-doctoral Research, and (b) Postgraduate Research.

C. CLINICAL SERVICES

The institute offers a wide variety of clinical services to persons with communication disorders all over the country. Clinical activities of the Institute can be broadly categorized as: (a) general clinical services (b) specialized clinical services (c) clinical outreach services (d) clinical electronic services and (e) clinical support services. Highly skilled clinical practitioners of the departments of Audiology, Clinical Services, Speech - Language Pathology, Speech - Language Sciences along with allied professionals at the departments of Otorhinolaryngology and Clinical Psychology have been delivering outpatient general clinical services. In addition to the general clinical services, the institute also delivers a number of specialized clinical services pertaining to augmentative and alternative communication, autism spectrum disorders, fluency disorders, listening training, professional voice care, structural cranio-facial anomalies, vertigo, and preschool services to children with communication disorders. Also, the institute facilitates the services of various allied medical specialities to the needy clients with communication disorders who register in the department of clinical services. The patients can avail the consulting services from Paediatrician, Neurologist, Plastic surgeon, Prosthodontist, Phonosurgeon etc.

D. EXTENSION SERVICES

Due to geographical, social and financial reasons many persons with communication disorders are unable to come directly to the institute. Also there is lack of awareness about communication disorders and preventive measures. To resolve these issues, the institute undertook extension services as follows:

- a. Publicity and Information activities by which all the programs and events related to the institute are being communicated through the electronic and print media. Public education material related to communication disorders are also being prepared and distributed among the public to create awareness on communication disorders.
- b. Camps are being conducted at various places within Karnataka and other neighboring states to educate the public regarding communication disorders. These camps are mainly sponsored by Non-government organizations.
- c. Orientation lectures on prevention, identification and management of communication disorders/ impairment are given by the staff to various target groups.
- d. Innovative clinical outreach services are provided to persons with communication disorders at distant places through tele-diagnostic and rehabilitation services and e-discussion forums.
- e. Health screening programs for speech and hearing disorders in different settings in various localities are organized and provide diagnostic and therapeutic services.
- f. Monthly public lecture series program is being conducted with the objective of creating awareness among the public on various communication disorders. In this program, experts in the field deliver one-hour lecture on various topics on communication disorders.

ACADEMIC SECTION

One of the major objectives of the institute is to generate manpower in the field of speech and hearing in the country. It is the very first institute in the field which offered specialization in Masters, Doctoral, and Post doctoral programs in the field of Speech-Language Pathology, and Audiology. The Academic Section coordinates various curricular activities of the institute.

A. Academic Programs Offered

Last year, the institute offered three diploma, three post-graduate diploma, two under-graduate and three post-graduate degree programs. These are in addition to the two doctoral and one post-doctoral programs. The courses had the approval of the University of Mysore/Rehabilitation Council of India. Of these 14 programs, Diploma in Hearing, Language and Speech (DHLS) was offered in 12 centres across the country and classes were conducted through video conferencing. Diploma in Hearing Aid and Ear Mould Technology (DHA & ET): This diploma program aims at training the students in the maintenance and repair of hearing aids as well as in ear mould technology. The focus is more on practical training and the student trainees are given hands-on experience in the repair of different types of hearing aids and preparation of ear moulds.

Diploma in Teaching Young (Deaf & Hard of Hearing) (DTY (DHH)): This program helps in the generation of manpower that will cater to the needs of children below 3 years of age and their caregivers. It helps children with hearing impairment to be equipped with pre-school and pre-academic skills which would enable them to adapt to school curriculum. This would further help in mainstreaming these children with their normal peer group.

Diploma in Hearing, Language and Speech (DHLS) :This diploma program is geared at generating manpower which will cater to the needs of individuals with communication disorders at the grass-root level. In this program the students are trained to identify individuals with communication disorders and make appropriate referrals for further diagnosis. The students in this program spend 50% of their time acquiring the required practical skills.

B.Sc. (Speech and Hearing): The students of B.Sc. (Speech and Hearing) are trained in assessment and management of communication disorders in individuals of all the age groups. The training includes theoretical and practical aspects, with focus on clinical teaching. The students get hands-on experience in dealing with patients under the supervision of experienced faculty.

B.S.Ed. (Hearing Impairment): Candidates who undergo the Bachelor of Special Education (Hearing Impairment) would learn about ways to rehabilitate children with hearing impairment. This special program prepares general educators to be special educators. It equips teachers with special skills in teaching children with hearing impairment. Faculty in the field of speech and hearing as well as special education joins hands in conducting this program.

PG Diploma in Forensic Speech Sciences & Technology (PGDFSST) :The identification of individuals from their speech is an area of speech science that reliably arouses attention of both public and forensic experts. There are a very few forensic laboratories undertaking forensic speaker identification in India. The P.G. Diploma in Forensic Speech Sciences and Technology course intends to train professionals in the area of speaker identification which would be applicable in forensic sciences.

P.G.Diploma in Clinical Linguistics for Speech-Language Pathology (PGDCLSLP): Clinical Linguistics is a field of linguistics that deals with the application of linguistic principles to communication disabilities especially in clinical settings. It involves inter-disciplinary study among the various disciplines and sub-disciplines such as speech and language pathology, linguistics behavior sciences like clinical psychology, education among others, and is aimed at studying language development and disorders in specific clinical settings. The course will equip the speech-Language pathologists to assess, diagnose and plan intervention programs for communication problems in the Indian context. More appropriately it will also prepare the candidates to undertake inter-disciplinary research in the areas of speech, language and cognition.

Post-Graduate Diploma in Neuro-Audiology (PGDNA): This is a new program with a duration of one year, launched last year. Neuro-audiology is a specialized branch of Audiology that deals with the structure, function and disorders of auditory neural pathway and the allied neural network. The course objectives include provision of specialised training focussed on assessment of auditory neural processing and its dysfunctions and promotion of interdisciplinary research activities in the area of Neuro-audiology.

M.Sc. (Audiology): The post-graduate program in Audiology imparts in-depth knowledge and skills in the field. As it is difficult to specialize in all aspects of communication sciences while carrying out a composite master's program, AISH is offering specialization at the master's level as done in other master's programs. The post-graduate program in Audiology focuses providing detailed information about the normal aspects of the auditory system as well as on differential diagnosis and differential management of auditory disorders. The post-graduate students are also trained to identify the research needs and plan research that would help in upgrading the diagnostic, rehabilitative and research programs in the country.

M.Sc. (Speech-Language Pathology): The postgraduate program in Speech-Language Pathology imparts in-depth knowledge and skills in the field. As it is difficult to specialize in all aspects of communication sciences while carrying out a composite master's program, AISH has started offering specialization at master's level as done in other master's programs. The post-graduate program in Speech-Language Pathology focuses on differential diagnosis and differential management of speech language disorders. The post-graduate students are also trained to identify the research needs and plan research that would help in upgrading the diagnostic, rehabilitative and research programs in the country.

M.S.Ed (Hearing Impairment): The manpower generated by B. Ed (HI), course will be equipped with basic skills required to teach children with hearing impairment. To fulfil the needs of planning educational programs, making policy decisions and serving as master trainers in the area of special education, masters' level training is essential. Hence, M.S.Ed (HI) is being introduced to impart higher level training to special educators in the area of education of children with hearing impairment.

Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Audiology, Speech-Language Pathology: Two doctoral programs are being conducted in the areas of Audiology, and Speech-Language Pathology. The program is affiliated to the University of Mysore. It is geared towards increasing quality and quantity of research in the area of communication disorders. The institute has state-of-the-art test facilities and equipments, clientele and collaboration to undertake research in a wide range of areas related to communication disorders.

Post Doctoral program: The program is geared towards increasing quality and quantity of research in the area of Speech and Hearing.

B. Admission and Enrolment

Admissions to Bachelor's degree in Speech and Hearing, Master's degree in Audiology and Master's degree in Speech - Language Pathology were based on the merit obtained in the national level entrance examination conducted by the Institute. CLINICAL SERVICES

The department offers a whole range of clinical services, to individuals starting from few days old to elderly. The activities include prevention of hearing loss, assessment of hearing, selection and fitment of hearing devices, provision of custom ear molds and rehabilitation of the individuals with hearing impairment.

A. General Clinical Services

The general clinical services provided by the department are as follows:

A.1 Hearing Evaluation

A battery of tests is administered with the state-of-the-art equipment on clients complaining of problem in hearing, who visit the institute from all over the country and abroad. Physiological and electrophysiological tests play an important role in detecting the clients with functional hearing loss, whose number has shot up to avail the increased financial aid.

A few of the behavioural tests used are Pure Tone Audiometry and Speech Audiometry. Facilities to carry out Behavioural Observation Audiometry (BOA) and Visual Reinforcement Audiometry (VRA) are also available. With VRA it is possible to obtain voluntary responses to sound stimuli from children as young as six months of age. Using objective tests, responses to auditory stimuli can be obtained without voluntary response from the individual. The objective tests used at the department include, immittance evaluation, measurement of Oto Acoustic Emissions (OAE), measurement of Auditory Evoked Potentials (AEP) and Auditory Steady State Responses (ASSR). After hearing assessment, appropriate referrals or rehabilitative procedures are recommended. The referral could be for a medical/surgical line of treatment. Audiological treatment when recommended will be carried out at the department.

Table 12 gives the details of clients seen for hearing evaluation and of certificates issued for eligible clients to avail welfare measures. Figure 2 gives the month-wise statistics of cases seen at hearing evaluation section. Figure 3 provides the no. of ears tested for different types of hearing loss and figure 4 the details of certificates issued to clients for various purposes.
